

The Western Approaches

Author, Judith Aspinwall.

Hidden away in Rumford St, Liverpool is the bunker built with a 7ft thick reinforced roof and 3ft deep walls. Local History Group 9 didn't see all the hundred rooms used by over 400 staff during WW2 but those we did see enabled us to understand the combined operations of the Royal Navy, Air Force and Marines focusing on the rectangular area of the Atlantic Ocean lying immediately west of the British Isles. Their task was to monitor German aircraft and U- boats. Liverpool was Britain's main convoy port and helped to maintain Britain's lifeline with the United States and Canada. Victory at the Battle of the Atlantic was essential for Britain to survive.

Our guide encouraged us to read documents lying on desks to gain an understanding of tasks undertaken on a daily basis. Staff worked a 12hr day but once a month they worked a 24hr day or even more. Most of them were women as the men were busy fighting. The senior men, however, often went out in the morning after an intensive night shift for a game of golf and no doubt a lunch after. Winston Churchill visited more than once. We saw the 'sound proof 'telephone box' where he could take private calls on his red phone. The Admiral given most credit was Sir Max Horton who really improved the rate at which the enemy vessels were destroyed.

It was one of those visits that reminds us yet again of sacrifices made by individuals, in this case of a high proportion of merchant seamen and also we are reminded of the important role Liverpool has played in so many ways through time.

114 Mount Pleasant

During the 1700s Liverpool was rapidly growing with many immigrants. Doctors and surgeons working at Liverpool Infirmary were witnessing many illnesses and diseases previously unknown. Resources were scarce and expensive and in order to cope the Liverpool Medical Library was formed. In the 1830s, Liverpool's doctors decided they needed their own flagship building, so Dr John Rutter launched a fundraising campaign to raise monies for their new home. The resultant building, in the Greek Revival style, designed by Clark Rampling, curves round the corner of Mount Pleasant and Hope Street. It was opened in May 1837 and was the venue for Local History Group 6's recent visit. It claims to be one of the oldest Medical Societies in the world. In 1839 the Liverpool Medical Library merged with the Liverpool Medical Society to form the Liverpool Medical Institute.

One long since deceased member was Thomas Fresh. He oversaw Environmental Health and was appointed as the Liverpool "Inspector of Nuisances," responsible for sanitary inspection and works. In addition to being a pioneering officer, he is locally known for the model farm and fields he owned adjacent to Freshfield Station.

Another important and more recent LMI member was Liverpool born, bred and educated Ronald Finn (1930-2004). He was aware of Rh disease which only occurs in some second, or subsequent pregnancies of Rh negative women, where the foetus's father is Rh positive. As the mother is exposed to the infant's blood during childbirth it can cause the development of antibodies which may affect the health of any subsequent Rh+ pregnancies, causing anything from anaemia (mild cases) to heart failure (severe cases). In a 1960 talk, given in the Institution, Finn proposed that "it might be possible to destroy the foetal blood cells in the mother with anti Rh antibody and so prevent the future development of erythroblastosis thus mimicking the natural protection afforded by abo incompatibility.” It led him to propose that the disease might be prevented by injecting the at-risk mother with an antibody against foetal red blood cells. In 1980, Finn was a joint recipient of the Lasker Award (sometimes referred to as “America’s Nobels”) for his major contribution to medical science, his work on rhesus blood types and the prevention of Rh disease so improving the life chances of many children.

The LMI building has grade II* listing and alterations are restricted. The entrance hall on the corner of LMI has an imposing sweeping staircase, a War Memorial and a memorial to Doctor Duncan, Liverpool’s first Medical Officer of Health. The biggest room, the 120-seat Lecture Theatre, boasts bright red plush seats and like the rest of the building is regularly used for conferences and events. However, the most striking room is the two-storey Library, having a balcony with a glass floor. A gallery, lined with historic portraits, curves along the first floor from the Library to the Bar. The Gallery, Libraries and Lecture Theatre are all lit by glass domes, making the building cold in winter and sweltering in summer. The Council Room, where the Institute’s governing council met, was remodelled in the 1900s with beautiful wood panelling, display cases and a fireplace. The cases contain a variety of artefacts, some gruesome, including amputation sets and a historic cutter for skin grafts. There are more rooms in the modern extension in Mount Pleasant, which was opened by Princess Margaret.

We were grateful to Karen who stood in for our original guide who was ill with ‘flu. She gave us a fascinating insight into a “gem” of a venue, its alumni and history, all previously unknown to us, apart from its facade.

Beatles Tour

Author, Val Thomas, photos Ian Higson.

The Outings Group met at Cross Green before boarding a coach and to be taken on a scenic route to the Adelphi Hotel where we had morning coffee. After morning coffee we met our tour guide Harriet who showed us round the birth places of John, Paul, George and Ringo. On route to Strawberry Fields we were shown the Barbers Shop where the famous haircuts were done and we also saw the Sgt Peppers roundabout. As we went round to Strawberry Fields the song was played. Further along the route we were shown where Brian Epstein and Priscilla White (better known as Cilla Black) are buried. We then proceeded to where John Lennon and Paul McCartney lived. We continued on to various sites; Pier Head with the statue where each Beatle had something significant on them and the Beatles Hotel where one room had been decorated in white for John and Yoko. From there we travelled to the Cavern Walks where the Beatles played and a statue of Cilla now stands. We carried on to William Brown Street where there are trees in St John's Gardens relating to the Beatles and then returned to the Adelphi Hotel for a three course lunch, finishing with tea and coffee.

We travelled back to Formby arriving at Cross Green around 3pm. Everybody enjoyed the Beatles Tour, finding how some of the songs originally related to varying points on the tour. Everyone thanked Ann and her team for a very enjoyable day.

Formby U3A Draft Minutes Of The 2017 AGM Held In Holy Trinity Hall On 8th March 2017

Author, Jack Ashworth, Secretary.

- 1 Apologies for Absence: Mr and Mrs Noel Blundell, Roger Hills.
- 2 Minutes of 2016 AGM: Draft Minutes have been published in the April 2016 and the January 2017 Newsletters and were available at the meeting. There were no comments from the floor and the Minutes were approved nem con by a show of hands and were signed by Glyn Pike as Chairman.
- 3 Matters Arising from the Minutes: Suggestions from the floor during AOB that the hearing loop be attended to and additional stage lighting be purchased had been carried through by Committee.

4 2016 Annual Report: The Chairman gave his report which was approved nem con by applause:-

I begin this report by thanking the previous Chairman Andrew Hoare and his committee for handing over a "well oiled machine". Their work over the last few years had provided a strong platform for the future.

Our relatively new committee has met on a monthly basis as required and has dealt with the matters that were placed before it. We listened to the comments at last year's AGM in connection with speakers and Val Tibbits and Rosemary Thomas have worked hard to provide interesting speakers for the current year. The attendances at the monthly meetings seems to suggest that their work has been worthwhile.

Our finances under the stewardship of David Manning-Fox are in good order as you will learn later when you will be asked to approve the financial report.

We continue to increase membership on a monthly basis and Ann Gunstone who beavers away quietly has been a great asset in this capacity.

There are currently approximately 130 groups in Formby U3A covering 60 activities and Linda McAuley is available to act on any suggestion you have for new groups to be formed. The website is always a valuable assistance to anyone seeking information about our U3A and the group status in particular. Noel Blundell acts swiftly to keep the information as up to date as possible

Committee members Ann Blackman and Linda Howard continue to work with the Outings and Theatre groups and are available at the monthly workshop meetings to assist with your enquiries.

The new format for the Christmas show proved to be popular with those members who bought tickets and even the new venue with its improved stage and facilities won approval from those attending. Our thanks go to Susan Birchall for producing the show.

Secretary Jack Ashworth has kept the committee fully informed of the matters discussed at meetings although he tells me that there is a greater power than he when it comes to matters with the computer ensuring minutes arrive at their correct destination. Jack is vacating the position at next year's AGM and I therefore asking for a volunteer to take his place. It would be useful if you would contact Jack to find out what is required of this position.

We are also losing the services of David Bosworth whose ability to get to the heart of any matter being discussed will be sorely missed. Our data manager has also decided to retire and we thank David and Len for their services to our organisation. Len's position will be taken up by Tony Bonney.

After many years of service Tim Chrimes is relinquishing the role of sound engineer for our monthly meetings. I would ask anyone who is interested in succeeding him to contact me or any committee member.

On your behalf I thank the committee for their enthusiasm and service to Formby U3A, their dedication has allowed an already successful organisation to flourish.

I was recently asked to attend a meeting for Formby residents with hearing difficulties to inform them of our activities and to this end handed out copies of our newsletter. One gentlemen who informed me that he was for many years in the printing business remarked that the newsletter that I handed to those present was one of the best he had ever seen, commenting that it was a thoroughly professional job. We have Dave Goodwill to thank for producing our newsletter on a monthly basis. He often informs us that he is only able to print what is sent to him and therefore encourages us all to write about our activities and submit the articles for inclusion in the newsletter. On your behalf I thank David for his dedication and service to Formby U3A.

Our organisation is entirely dependent on our Group Leaders who act selflessly for the benefit of others. I offer them thanks for their work in the past and hope they continue to lead their groups in the future.

I would also like to thank Pat McCracken and her team of helpers who provide tea and coffee for the Thursday workshop meetings, many members benefit from their dedication.

You may rest assured that the current committee will continue to work on your behalf and only ask that at the end of their term of office others do the same for them.

5 Treasurer's Report: Copies of the Accounts for the year ended 31st December 2016 were available to all who attended. The Treasurer gave a detailed resume of the entries, highlighting the fact that income had been maintained and explaining the main item of expenditure, the capitation fee paid to our umbrella body Third Age Trust, at £3.50 per member. The audited accounts showed a healthy balance at the year end of almost £16,000 and it was proposed by Andrew Hoare that they be accepted, seconded by Barry Lovius, approved nem con by a show of hands. The Treasurer then went on to explain his Budget for 2017 and mentioned particularly the capitation fee which reflected the number of members as at 31st October 2016, the entry 'hire of hall/church' referring to Committee's so far unsuccessful efforts to use the Church, thus avoiding the laborious setting up and re-stacking of chairs. The cost of the Group Leaders' Meeting resulted from an annual event intended to show Formby U3A's appreciation of the invaluable work done by Group Leaders throughout the year. All this resulted in a projected deficit in excess of £3,000 which could be readily absorbed by accumulated funds.

6 Appointment of Auditor: The Treasurer thanked Alan Thomas for his exemplary work. Alan had agreed to continue and his appointment was confirmed nem con.

7 Election of Trustees: Members of Committee who had agreed to stand for re-election were named in the Agenda. The Chairman asked for volunteers from the floor to contest any of these positions or fill the vacancies of Vice Chairman and two non-officer positions. No-one came forward and consequently, there was only one nomination for each role so all were approved en bloc by a show of hands.

Chairman	Glyn Pike
Vice Chairman	Vacant
Treasurer	David Manning-Fox
Secretary	Jack Ashworth
Membership Secretary	Ann Gunstone
Groups Secretary	Linda McAuley
Committee Members	Susan Birchall, Linda Howard, Rosemary Thomas, Valerie Tibbitts and two vacancies.

8 Any Other Business: No motions had been presented. Derek Thomas spoke from the floor and explained he had no sight. He therefore asked if the Newsletter, which he valued, could be produced for people like him in an alternative form, e.g. audio. He was assured this request would be considered at the next Committee meeting.

The meeting closed at 2.30 pm.
