

Catalyst Museum

Author, John Adamson.

Members of Local History Group 7 recently visited the Catalyst Museum in Widnes. The museum is the only museum in the UK which explores the science and technology behind the chemical industry. The museum also looks at the impact of chemicals on our lives, past and present by providing hands-on exhibits, activities, demonstrations and a variety of interesting talks.

We all shared cars to travel to the museum which took about 40 minutes. After coffee/tea and biscuits we were taken to the conference theatre and given a talk by Dr Diane Leitch, on the “Development of the Chemical Industry in Runcorn and Widnes in the 19th and 20th centuries”. A lot of local history information was provided in the talk, which follows on from our visit to the Salt Mines in Cheshire.

After lunch in the museum’s café, we were split into two groups. One group was taken to the rooftop Observatory Gallery where we enjoyed panoramic views of the Mersey Gateway Bridge and across to Cheshire. We were also provided with tablets which showed pictures of historical views of Widnes, Runcorn, the river and the ship canal, together with historical information.

The other group were shown around the museum section called "The Birth of an Industry" - the Chemical Industry. This was very interesting and showed the conditions that people had to endure. The Industry has come a long way to the present day.

The visit was very interesting and enjoyable and lasted from 10:30 am to about 3:00 pm. They also had a small shop which had some interesting things to buy for the grandchildren.

A Host of Golden Daffodils

The Tuesday Cycling Group enjoyed a very pleasant ride through the park and historic parts of Liverpool, stopping for a look at the Palm House in its full splendour.

Book & Jigsaw Exchange

Author, Keith Jacques, Secretary.

It is hoped that Formby U3A will launch a book and jigsaw exchange at the monthly coffee mornings and speaker events. We are therefore looking for donations of books and jigsaws in good condition to give us an opening stock. Please contact the Formby U3A secretary (Keith Jacques) by emailing secretary@formbyu3a.org.uk or by telephone on 870906 to arrange delivery or collection of your donations.

Data Protection

Author, Frances Taylor, Vice Chairman.

New Data Protection legislation has come into force. Earlier this year the Committee set up a Sub-Committee to develop Formby U3A's response. Working on advice promulgated by the Third Age Trust in late January we were well on the way to agreeing appropriate approaches and policies. The Third Age Trust radically changed its advice on April 24. We had briefed Group Leaders and put a short note in the April Newsletter indicating that we would shortly be writing to ask for your consent to keep and use personal information for membership purposes. The note was replaced in the electronic versions of the Newsletter but it was too late to change the printed copy so we apologise for any confusion.

The Sub-Committee is reviewing the new advice and will be producing a revised Privacy Policy and a Data Protection Policy for consideration by the whole Committee. Once agreed these will be placed on the website and be available on request from the Secretary. It appears we will not need your consent to keep and use your personal information for membership purposes and our policies will explain how we use and keep your information. We will also be issuing guidance to Group Leaders.

The Committee would like to assure you that we are taking Data Protection and Privacy very seriously. We have reviewed and strengthened our systems to ensure that we still keep and handle your information securely.

In the meantime there are a couple of things we would like to bring to your attention. Photographs are personal information and we have already asked contributors to the Newsletter to ensure that members in Group Photographs are aware that it is being taken for the Newsletter and will appear on the website. Members thus have an opportunity not to be included in the photograph. Secondly it is good practice to use bcc (blind carbon copy) when circulating an email to a large group of people as this means that private e-mail addresses cannot be seen by anyone else, thus retaining members' privacy. However if everyone in the Group agrees then email addresses can be shared but individual members should still be given the opportunity to remain bcc.

We will keep you informed of progress on the website, in the newsletter and at our monthly meetings.

Newsletter Editor's Footnote: Please do not ask the Newsletter Editor, or any of the Committee Members for another member's e-mail address, 'phone number etc. Our refusal is not intended to cause offence but is simply us protecting Formby U3A from substantial fines that we could incur if we disclose such personal details.

Folk Group

The Group entertaining at St Michael's Church Hall, Aughton.

Author, David Davies.

The U3A Folk Club has now been running for three years. We meet every Thursday afternoon from September to the following April from 2pm to 4pm., playing folk instruments and singing a wide range of folk and country songs. Introducing harmonies into many of our songs, we sometimes entertain at local church and village halls and, occasionally, play and sing outdoors.

We would like to increase our range of instruments to include: banjo/mandolin, bass guitar, keyboard, concertina or similar. In fairness, we would like musicians who already have a fair degree of competence. We also have a vacancy for a good female singer, either alto or soprano, who, preferably, can harmonise naturally, to complement our small group of microphone singers.

Harrogate

Author, Teresa Fitzgerald, photos Angela Parry.

The Outings Group set out on a sunny morning on a visit to Harrogate. We departed from Cross Green, at 9am and journeyed north to the A59, arriving at Huntleys which is a shopping outlet in the Samlesbury area where we enjoyed a relaxing coffee break.

Continuing our journey through Lancashire into the Ribble Valley, one could enjoy the beautiful scenery with its rich green pastures and rolling hills enhanced by such bright sunshine. We crossed over into Yorkshire, to what is known as one of God's own counties, soon to arrive in Harrogate.

As we arrived in close proximity to the town centre, our group separated and twelve gardening enthusiasts continued the journey to RHS Garden Harlow Carr while the rest of the group visited the town centre. For me, it was Harrogate revisited after thirty five years. Needless to say, it is still brimming with character. A Spa town famous for its sulphur and iron springs used by sufferers of rheumatic and other health conditions, it's dignified Victorian architecture so carefully preserved. Some members of the group enjoyed the opportunity of indulging in retail therapy, while others enjoyed a leisurely lunch at Betty's Cafe. & Tea Rooms while others relaxed and enjoyed the sights of this lovely town bedecked with Spring flowers.

At 5pm we boarded the coach as it returned from RHS Harlow Carr. Although I did not visit the gardens, I was given to understand that all twelve members enjoyed a lovely day in what is referred to as a garden for all seasons, offering excellent facilities to include a branch of Betty's where all twelve members enjoyed lunch. We arrived back in Formby at approximately 7:20pm.

Once again, thanks to our Leader, Ann Blackman, for arranging this lovely trip.

THE ANCIENT CHAPEL OF HOLY ROOD, MELLING

Author, Rosemary and Alan Thomas

Local History Group 9 visited this ancient chapel on 10 May and what a little gem it is! Now known as The Parish of St Thomas, Melling, tucked away not so far from Formby in a semi-rural area, we stepped back in time as we listened to the very interesting and informative talk given by Barbara Nickson, Church Secretary.

The earliest recorded entry of worship on the site is 1190. The chapel was dedicated to Holy Rood (meaning cross) and there is the base of a stone cross in the ancient churchyard which is thought to be the base of a “preaching cross” before the church was built. There has been a burial ground here since 600 AD. Norse settlers came to Lancashire about 900 AD and left behind evidence of Christian activity.

The old chapel lasted 650 years and over time fell into disrepair. In the early eighteen hundreds it was decided to build a new church on the site and Reverend Miles Formby who was responsible for building the new church, preached the first sermon on a Sunday in March 1835. As the years have gone by, its original design has been modified from an open timbered early Gothic interior to as it is today, with graceful triple lancet windows. The old tower to the west end was surmounted by four canopied turrets. A new organ was installed and a vestry and additions have been designed in the early English style.

Several fine memorials which had been fixed in the Old Chapel dedicated to noteworthy local parishioners in the 1700/early1800s have been refixed on the walls of the “new” church including memorials to the Molyneux family and to The Reverend Miles Formby, the fourth son of Richard Formby of Formby Hall who died in 1849.

At the entrance to the church we noted the Lych Gate which was erected in 1921 to honour those from Melling who had died in the Great War. Two bronze tablets naming those who had fallen in both World Wars are displayed in the church.

Further down the lane Barbara took us to the Tithebarn which was built in 1660 and originally used to store the “tithes” that was payable to the Rector of Halsall. Over the centuries the use of the barn has been modified from storing grain to becoming a coach house for the vicarage, parish rooms and a community hall. In 1962 it served as a dining room to little local school and is now a tastefully renovated venue used for weddings and local events.

The original school, built in 1720 comprised of two white cottages on Tithebarn Lane. It provided basic education for the children of Melling which included 25 “free” children and others who paid, with special provision made for poor children through special trusts administered by the a local family named Tatlock. When the numbers increased to over 100 children, Reverend Miles Formby pushed for a replacement building which was opened in 1844. New school premises in Wheeler Drive now serves Melling and the local area.

With our thanks to Barbara, we truly stepped back in time and thoroughly enjoyed our experience.
